V. P. 25-29-11

SIR,

I have the honor to state that one of the best means of stimulating Village Improvement is by rousing an interest in the villagers in their surroundings and bringing before their eyes improvements to be effected in their environments and their occupations. It is now recognized that one of the best ways of educating people is by means of films and large sums of money are spent in getting special films prepared for the benefit of the rural population. The film that I got prepared for the Village Panchayet Exhibition showing typical villages and methods of improvement has succeeded in rousing much interest in the villagers, and suggestions have been made to me that I should have at least 5 or 6 films dealing with various phases of rural life and able to excite their powers of observation.

2. If Government place at my disposal a sum of about Rs 6000/-, I shall be able to get at least half a dozen films likely to be useful for the education of villagers prepared. It will be necessary to buy a projector which I think I shall be able to procure within that amount. Eventually, it would be necessary for me to have a Bus to carry these films to the villages. But this may be deferred till the next year. For the present, these films will be exhibited during the most important Taluk and other Conferences and in Jatras. The services of an operator will be also necessary. I can get a man on a pay of about Rs 60 to 80 a month for the purpose. Sanction may be accorded for the expenditure of Rs 6000/- for the preparation of films and the purchase of a projector, and a lumpsum
